Mermaid waves

Our model, Estelle, has a extra long forehead, so we've used a lot of extra hair to frame her face. Long layers are ideal to bring out the definition of the style, but if you don't have them, just work with what you have with a rounder look. Our model started by applying Separating Styler by Estelle £12.99 (£10) to damp hair, which he then used Red Head Tug by Estelle £14.99 (£12) a comb for longer hold to create waves in both sections. Finally, he used Red Head Tug after Party Cream, £12 (£10) in the hands, then passed his hands through the waves.

Carty look

Model Estelle's hair is naturally curly, which gives her a head start to achieving this look. To prep, our stylist applied Red Head Tug Curl Rich Amplifier Cream, £10 (£8) into the damp hair, then he diffused her with the Red Head Hair Diffuser, £18.99, massaging the roots and smoothing hair to his hands along the way. For added definition, he touched up some of the curls with a small brush. Finally, he used his fingers to tease through John Frieda Frizz Ease Dream Curl Mousse Cream Oil, £5.99 (£5) for added shine and definition.
